NUMBER 4

FITZSIMMONS KNOCKED OUT.

The Boilermaker too much for the Big Australian

TAKES ELEVEN ROUNDS

Fitzsimmons Draws First Blood but it Fails to do Him any Good.

The fight began promptly on time. At first the contestants feinted with Fitzsimmons breaking ground, Jeffries keeping almost in the middle of the ring. Jeffries evidently trying to get right over the heart. Fitzsimmons led for stomach and fell short; led for the stomach again and fell short. Fitz led left but Jeffries ducked cleverly. Jeffries led left and fell short. Again he led for the jaw but Fitz was out of the way.

Round 2—Fitzsimmons in middle of ring made Jeffries break ground. Fitz sent left to body. Jeffries countered with a stiff left on the face. Jeffries tried left for body but was neatly blocked. Jeffries assumed a crouching attitude, baring in with his left on his opponent's body, but was again blocked when he came to a clinch. Jeffries landed two lefts on the body and shot his left three times into the face without return. Fitz tried his right for the head, but fell short and clinched. Jeffries tried a left chop for the head but Fitz ducked safely. Jeffries then tried a left swing for the head and another for the body. Jeffries tried right and left for the body and knocked Fitzsimmons flat on his back with a straight on the mouth.

Rounds 3 and 4 were a repetition of the first two rounds.

Round 5—Fitz led off with a left on the face, splitting Jeffries' left eye, which bled freely; Jeffries retaliated with a hard left on the ear and Fitz tried his left for the damaged eye, but failed to land. Fitz tried a left for the head but Jeffries ducked and a clinch followed. Fitz put a light left on Jeffries' mouth and forced him to the ropes. They clinched but broke immediately. Jeffries tried a left swing for the body and left an opening, which Fitz failed to take advantage of. Jeffries sent two lefts to the jaw and a right on the forehead without a return. Fitz rushed but in trying to sidestep almost went through the ropes. He regained himself and came back with a hard left on the neck and right on the body. Jeffries replied with two stiff lefts on the face as he crowded in on him.

Round 6—Fitzsimmons hopped across the ring and Jeffries broke ground. Fitzsimmons swung his left for the head, landing slightly, and blocked a right lead for Bob; both tried lefts for the head, but were short. Fitzsimmons put his left to the face and missed a right across the jaw. Fitzsimmons still on the aggressive and crowded in with a left for the wind and Jeffries crossed his right to the ear; they broke from a clinch and Fitzsimmons sent a left to the face and put his right over the injured eye. Another clinch followed and the referee had to separate them. Fitzsimmons sent his left twice to the head and followed with a hard left to the chest. Jeffries fought back wildly, landing both hands hands outside of Fitzsimmons' guard, and after another clinch Fitzsimmons apparent his opponent with his right on the wind. This was the last blow of the round which was in favor of Fitzsimmons.

Round 7—Jeffries was a bit slow in coming; to the scratch and broke ground making a circle of the ring. Fitzsimmons tried his right to the head, landing lightly and Jeffries got a left to the ribs. Fitzsimmons was on the aggressive and sent his left back on the neck. Jeffries tried to crowd Fitzsimmons on the ropes but Fitzsimmons got away nicely. Jeffries swung his left for the head, but Fitzsimmons got inside of it and drove his right over the heart. This was Fitzsimmons' round.

In the eighth and ninth rounds Fitzsimmons was on the aggressive but neither suffered much punishment. Jeffries had the better of the rounds.

Round 10—Jeffries was the first to land with a straight left on the body, bringing it up to the head. Jeffries made a left swing for Fitzsimmons, but was blocked and then with a left swing on the jaw put Fitzsimmons on his back. Fitzsimmons was very groggy when he got up in seven seconds and was knocked down again with a left and right on the jaw. He came up again in five seconds and Jeffries rushed him into the corner trying very hard to finish the champion who was very groggy, but Jeffries was too anxious and failed to finish him.

Round 11—Fitzsimmons came slowly up but assumed the aggressive. Jeffries standing off evidently waiting for a knockout. Jeffries put two hard rights over Fitz. heart sending him back and then sent a straight left to the neck following with a left on the chest. Fitz crowded in trying his right for the jaw, but fell short. Jeffries then assumed the aggressive and jabbed his left in the jaw dashing Fitz who stood in the middle of the ring. Jeffries looked at him for a moment and then he had him at his mercy, and swung his right and left on the jaw, and Fitz went down and out, relinquishing the championship. Time of 11th. round 1:23.

The partisans of the Californian went almost crazy with excitement and pandemonium reigned for several seconds. Fitz came to very quickly and Jeffries walked across to the defeated champion and both shook hands warmly. Judging from the expression on Fitz' face he did not feel disgruntled at his defeat.

The Indiana supreme court holds that a public corporation which enters into a combination with other corporations to destroy competition and thereby increase the price at which articles are sold will become liable to forfeiture of its corporate franchise. The decision is in the case of the state vs. the Portland Natural Gas & Oil Company.

A SPEAKER of the house from the great, broad, generous west, will be a change that Arizona, and the south-west generally, will enjoy. Speaker Reed was a big, able man, but he was mighty small in places where a public man in such responsible position should have been broad gauged and of liberal mind. He is an amiable but not of liberal mind.

The criminal calendar of the present term of the district court will cost Cochise county several thousand dollars. There are ten murder cases to be tried, five attempted murder cases, several assault cases, three robbery cases and one rape case. It will take a month to clear these up. If even handed justice is meted out and the guilty are punished as they deserve, it will go far toward reducing expenses in the future.

Not long ago a charming Washington woman called on Secretary Long and urged the appointment of a distant relative as a marine lieutenant. M. Long promised to do so, but absent-mindedly put her name on the list instead of the candidate's. The society woman was astonished a few days later to receive from the department a letter directing her to appear at the office of General Fitzgibbon, commander of the marine corps, and undergo the necessary physical examination.

New York and the whole country west from the Atlantic to the Mississippi river, is experiencing a hot wave, these days, and men and horses are dying in the streets and the population is suffering night and day. The thermometer has reached 90 in that region, which with the moisture in the atmosphere there, is very dangerous to life. Public schools are being closed in the large cities on account of the heat. With all the reputation of Arizona for hot weather we have nothing like that reported in the east these days.

The Territorial Normal school loses probably the best public instructor the territory has ever had in Dr. McNaughton, who has been tendered, and has accepted, the presidency of the Normal School of California, located at San Jose. The petty attacks on Dr. McNaughton at Tempe, by people who could not realize what the territory had in him, while they were powerless to injure him, no doubt helped him to choose the larger, clearer and more honorable field, when it was offered to him, though he loved the work here in the territory.

If Congress will cede to the Territory of Arizona, 1,000,000 acres of arid land, the territory will have but little difficulty in securing the capital for its reclamation. It matters not what the experience of those states has been to which were ceded large areas of arid lands for reclamation. Arizona can and will accomplish the reclamation of the lands, if a provision is incorporated in the grant allowing the lands to be located favorably to natural reservoir sites. Give Arizona the lands, she will reclaim them all right, and within a reasonably short period of time.

This supreme court of Nevada has decided that the Nevada law requiring the locator of a mine, in order to hold his claim, to sink a discovery shaft, or make a cut of certain depth, within 90 days after location, is not in conflict with the act of congress which gives the locator one year in which to do the $100 worth of labor prescribed by congress as a condition to holding the claim. Non-compliance with the miners' rules, or with the state or federal laws, regarding locations, works a forfeiture of the claim, whether such rules or laws so provide or not.

San Arizona prison farm is laying idle. There are about two hundred idle prisoners penned up in the penitentiary, every one of whom would like to be allowed the privilege of working on the prison farm. These prisoners are fed in idleness at the expense of the tax payers. The idle prisoners and idle prison farm should be brought together and made wealth producing. What is the matter with the administration, that it comports the law abiding, hard-working, peaceful citizens to bear the burden of feeding the law-breaker? It would seem that this enforced idleness of prisoners is placing a premium on disobedience to the laws of the territory.

The district court is now down to work. It is devoutly to be wished that the court calendar will be cleared up before an adjournment is had.

ONE of the greatest surprises that could be given to the taxpayers of Cochise county would be to see a clean court calendar, but we are under the impression that they will not see it this term of court.

GEN. COX says he is not alarmed at the multiplication of great trusts. They only constitute a long step towards state socialism, according to the king of trusts. The view is not a new one, but it is highly suggestive. The tendency of the trusts is to restrict competition to the point where there will be no competition at all. When that point is nearly or quite reached the people would rise, say the socialists, and demand that all the trusts be absorbed in one great public trust—the government. This view is hardly overdrawn, and it constitutes only one more reason why the thinkers and workers should concentrate their efforts on devising some solution of the problem that will preserve the principle of free competition and at the same time protect capital and labor alike. The economic questions involved are deep, and since there can be no partisan division on the main points of the problem there is every reason to believe that the people of this country will before many years find a way to curb or regulate the formation of these enormous and vicious aggregations of capital.

THERE is not another county in the territory where criminal and civil cases are allowed to hang on from year to year as they are in Cochise. In the history of the county there is not one place to be found where the cases have all been cleared up at any term of court. Whether this is the fault of the attorneys or the court, we are unable to say, but be that as it may, it is a burden upon the taxpayers and disgrace to the county. Criminal cases are postponed from term to term, the prisoners some times being held in jail and deprived of their liberty, while the sheriff's office, at every term of the court, has to subpoena the witnesses over and over again. Citizens and taxpayers are taken away from their business at times to themselves, as they are out both time and money. The county is put to the same expense each term of the court, and finally the case is dismissed and the prisoner is allowed to go free. If there is any justice in this we are too dull to see it, but we can see where there is a great injustice done to the taxpayers of the county by saddling a heavy burden of taxes upon them. It is time they rose up in their sovereign might and put a stop to such proceedings.

RISER is now a city of which not only those who reside within her limits, but every citizen of Cochise county should feel proud, and she is still growing very rapidly, and will continue to do so indefinitely, so in making any kind of improvements why not make them of a substantial character? Do not make them to suit the present conditions of our city, but for all time to come. The mining industry in this vicinity is in its infancy, and with its development comes trade and business. Remember that people with money are continually visiting us looking for investments, and if they fail to see our own town people should invest their own money in making substantial improvements they are not very much encouraged to take hold. On the other hand, if our buildings are substantial, and of neat and tasty architectural design, our yards beautified with shrubbery and flowers, and with an air of domestic comfort and contentment prevailing, capital will seek investment here, aside from mining ventures, because the returns will be sure and handsome.

Last fall I sprained my left hip while handling some heavy boxes. The doctor I called on said at first it was a slight strain and would soon be well, but it grew worse and the doctor then said I had rheumatism. It continued to grow worse, and I could hardly get around to work. I went to a drug store and the druggist recommended me to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I tried it and one-half of a 50 cent bottle cured me entirely. I now recommend it to all my friends.—F. A. B. Check, Erie, Pa. It is for sale by all druggists.

THE MILLS OF JUSTICE.

They are Grinding Slowly at the County Seat.

TOMBSTONE, June 9, 1899.
EDITOR ORB:—The present term of the district court that is now in session here has one of the largest calendars before it that has been the history of the county. There are forty-three criminal cases to be brought before the grand jury, which body has brought in a number of indictments already, and has ignored a few cases. The case of Joe Troilo, from your city, was one of those ignored. The case of Mississippi Tom has not been set yet but will probably come up the early part of next week.

The grand jury found an indictment against Dora Garnett and the case has been set for Tuesday next. It is reported that when a vote of the grand jury was had on this case that it came within one vote of being ignored on account of the lack of evidence. It seems one of the principal witnesses for the prosecution has left the county, whether on his own account or because he was assisted to we are unable to state, but he is gone nevertheless.

Indictments were found against Murphy and King, charged with the robbery of Blewett's store in your city last winter. In the Halderman brothers case, they pleaded not guilty to the indictment and the case will come up tomorrow or Monday. In the grand jury room when the testimony of Mrs. Moore was being taken concerning the killing of her son, Teddy, there was not a dry eye in the room; the grand jurors, as well as the district attorney, were weeping.

The prevailing opinion here is that Sheriff White will have a hanging bee on his hands.

The trial jury began their labors today, and this afternoon are trying the case of Otero and Tentime, Mexicans charged with the murder of a fellow countryman, in the vicinity of Mud Springs, nearly a year ago. The evidence is all circumstantial and the jury had not received the case up to the hour of this writing.

The grand jury brought in an indictment against C. M. Novich, of your city, who is charged with attempt to murder Mrs. M. J. Blair and Miss Lucy Harris. Your readers are familiar with the facts in this case.

The grand jury has appointed its several committees and they have commenced the work of investigating the offices and books of the county officials, as well as the county institutions. Your correspondent has it from a reliable source that, when the grand jury makes its report it will not be a document that will be flattering to all of our present county officials. Their X Ray investigations will bring out some startling conditions of affairs. The justices of the peace in several precincts, it is said, will be remembered in their final report, but to what extent no one at present knows.

District Attorney Land is making a good record for himself before the grand jury, and if he secures the conviction of all the prisoners that have been indicted by the grand jury, he will indeed have made a great record.

The stand The Orb has taken on the proposition of cleaning up the court calendar, is met with deserving comment on all sides. The citizens and taxpayers from all parts of the county are unanimous in the opinion that something should be done, if possible, to secure the desired end of having a clean court calendar for once in the history of the county.

Yours for Justice,
Pm.
